Turkey and Its March of Self-Interest

"Self-interest" is the sole rule and regulation that governs murtadd governments. Therefore, they follow these interests wherever they lead them, even at the expense of fighting against Islam and adopting a scorched earth approach which spreads mischief upon the land. The most obvious of such governments is the secular Turkish government, which has committed the worst of massacres against Muslims in Sham, dismembering children and women with its rockets in its battle against the Islamic State, which Turkey saw as a threat to its interests and its borders. Thus, it ignored all the mantras it had chanted about protecting Syrians and supporting them. So, it did not come as a surprise at all when the Turkish government recently hinted at the possibility of reconciliation with the murtadd Alawite taghut, as long as "self-interest" demands it.

Over the past few years, the Turkish taghut has proven, over and over again, that its government will not stop at anything in order to accomplish its filthy self-interests, even if it meant moving from the role of "ally" to the murtadd factions, to the role of "arbitrator" for the Alawite Taghut and even perhaps to the role of this regime's ally, one they once described as "terrorist".

For the duration of its war in Sham, the Turkish government claimed to be supporting "the rights of Syrians" and was working on standing by them, protecting them, harboring their refugees in its lands, though in reality it was using them as a pawn to blackmail and pressure the Crusader European governments when they opposed its policies! On the other side of the border, the Turkish government altered the battle from fighting the Alawite taghut to fighting the mujahidin by turning the factions that support it to mercenaries that are fighting merely to fulfill Turkey's interests and nothing else. Through them, Turkey fought the Islamic State a few years back, and uses them today to fight the Kurdish militias, with the goal of establishing a "buffer zone" in which Turkey sees protections and potential expansion of its borders. A goal that cannot be achieved except by taking advantage of its lowly, enslaved mercenaries, as is happening today, for they have become no more than pawns that can be played by Turkey as it sees fit.

And in the name of self-interest, and by alternating between "soft power" and "military force" in the name of protecting the "Syrians", providing them shelter and crumbs, the Turkish government used the "Syrian file" to achieve its political, nationalistic, and solely secularistic goals.

The positions the "Syrian opposition" factions adopted when Turkey hinted that it might "reconcile" with the Alawite taghut, was ludicrous and contradictory. For how can groups that have no power to command war or peace claim that they will not reconcile?! While their Ataturk master and employer did not even think to consult with them! In fact, it had never even asked their opinion in the past, when they announced the resumption of "relationships" with the kuffar Jews, while these foolish followers alleged that this step was purely for "economic interests"!! Today, Turkey announced "the return of complete diplomatic relations" with the Jews, or what can be considered, if one were to use their terminology, "complete normalization", which in Shari'ah language is called loyalty to the Jews. So, did the slave-like opposition change the outcome in any way? And how can those who accepted the fact that the Turkish taghut threw himself into the arms of the Jews, complain when the same taghut throws himself into the arms of the Alawite taghut! Especially if we know that the two tawaghit "Bashar and Erdogan", are considered among the "Axis of Resistance"! Meaning, the return of "Turkish/Syrian" relationships could be considered "honorable" when compared to the "Turkish/Jewish" relationship! The longer you live the more wonders you see.

Setting aside the fake media raucous made by the Syrian factions alleging they will never reconcile, the truth on the ground does not bind these murtadd factions with any Shari'ah rules or regulations, for their footsteps march towards an imaginary self-interest! Just as they previously perceived their self-interest to lie in "Turkish", "Saudi" or "Qatari" support, they will now find their self-interest in "reconciliation" if it takes place under the pretext of "compromise," as they refer to it. It is no wonder that they make peace with whoever makes peace and go to war with whomever goes to war, for from the onset, they did not walk the path with clear vision, and they did not fight to establish Shariah nor to disavow all of the polytheists! Allah's deen does not differentiate between a Syrian murtadd and a Turkish one; or between a Russian crusader and an American one. Allah's deen is one, and its methodology is clear! Only those who are lost diverge from it. When those factions diverged from the path of haqq, and followed in the footsteps of the supporters, Allah unleashed humiliation and injury upon them, the like of which was not seen elsewhere on the Syrian front. They saw no honor or consideration and became like beggars at the doors of the supporter, bewailing their luck and what had befallen them, finding no way out of their predicament except through more and more concessions. Allah said: "And whoever Allah disgraces, no one can honor"/ Al-Qurtubi – may Allah have mercy on him – said: "This means that he upon whom Allah piles hardship and kufr, will not be able to defend himself against them". Punishment befits the crime and the Lord is not unjust to anyone.

The disease of aimlessly walking a labyrinth as blind followers that has befallen the Ummah today has no cure except a divine one; a cure that attacks the malady at its origins and roots. For victory cannot come to the Ummah through loyalty to its enemies and by walking their paths, nor by being under their protection, and following their dictates. Victory is built upon the sacrifice of its righteous sons, as was demonstrated by the Islamic State from the minute it entered Sham, with success granted by Allah. It put Allah's commands and His pleasure, ahead of everything else. It disavowed all the kuffar and murtaddin, and did not compromise any of Allah's deen nor cozy up to anyone! It initiated its massive and blessed project, one that collided with the desires of the existing murtadd structures that had aligned themselves with supporting governments, revolving in their orbits and never disobeying them.

May Allah have mercy on Shaykh al-Adnani, who from the early stages of jihad in Sham, said: "Our objective here faces off with two other objectives. First: the objective of a democratic civic country, a secular objective, supported by all the people of kufr and their various proponents; not out of love for the people of Iraq or empathy for the people of Sham, but out of fear. They fear that Allah's commands will dominate the earth and an Islamic Khilafah will be established, a dangerous matter that they could not accept with silence. The second objective: A local nation referred to as "Islamic" supported by the monies and fatwas of the Saudi rulers, and the Gulf governments, designed by their intelligences forces, with an Islamic façade of appearance and garb; A government that would make peace with the Jews and protect the borders and thus be blessed by the United Nations, securing them a seat on the Security Council." He – may Allah have mercy on him – ended his speech, saying: "Whomever built this blessed State with the body parts and blood of its soldiers and leaders, those who did not trade their deen for dunyah, and who submitted their affairs to the Lord of all creation, carrying on their path despite the difficulties, not wavering or changing, without compromise or reconciliation, leaving behind an example of steadfastness to Allahs commandments, for those who come after them to follow until they achieve what was promised". "Allah will certainly help those who stand up for Him. Allah is truly All-Powerful, Almighty".
